COMING SOON

Dear Member and Friends May 2021

Welcome to my May 2021 newsletter, as always I hope that this newsletter finds you well and that most of you now have had your second Covid 19 injection.

Again I must mention as in my March newsletter that as part of the club's constitution we are required to have an AGM, I am still not sure if due to the current situation can we cancel the AGM for one year perhaps if someone has any idea how we can get around this problem would they be kind enough to let me know.

You may have noticed in my April newsletter I mentioned the television adverts for people suffering from blood clots, I have to say I did say Telephone rather than Time I hope this did not confuse you but I felt to contact medical help was more important that waiting around to make up your minds what action to take.

As I write my newsletter it is the 17th May and many of the current restrictions which we have been living under are being lifted so lets hope there will be good news for the King of Hearts that will allow us to get back to normal I certainly hope so.

I will get this letter off to Durham and Peter so that they can produce a copy out to you all. I would like to wish you all my very best wishes, keep wrapped up, and may I remind you all that the King of Hearts is still a group but without portfolio let us hope that one day things will get back to normal. Remember to stay within the government guide lines, also please be stay well and safe.

Regards
Henry Phillips Chairman

Like a Brother

Scriptwriter Barry Cryer was standing at the bar at ATV Elstree Studios in the early 1970s with American director Barry Levinson when the latter pointed out the elderly Groucho Marks sitting in the restaurant. It so happened that Cryer had brought with him a copy of The Groucho Letters in the hope that the great man might sign it, and Levinson offered to take the book over.
Cryer watched apprehensively as Levinson spoke to Groucho, who then peered over to the bar to see who was making the request and, with a quivering hand, signed the title page. When the book was brought back to him, Cryer saw that it had simply been signed `From Groucho. `He was perfectly happy with that but Levinson insisted that it should be personalized, so he took the book back to Groucho and asked him to write `to Barry` and also add `Marx after Groucho.`
This is where matters become confusing as Groucho wrote Marx in the wrong place and was immediately corrected by Levinson. The result is that Barry Cryer now owns a copy of the book with the dedication. `To Barry Marx from Groucho Marx. `

Unscheduled Journey.

Airports can be baffling places. There are so many rules and regulations to follow that it's no wonder some of us occasionally get a little confused.
Checking in at Stockholm airport in preparation for catching a flight to Germany in 2008, a seventy-eight-year-old woman misunderstood instructions and placed herself instead of her case on an unmanned baggage belt. No sooner did she lie down on the belt than she was automatically swept off to the baggage handling centre, where surprised staff helped back to her feet. Happily she was able to catch her flight as planned.

Mind Went Blank.

A Polish born American pianist Josef Hofmann sat at his stool and prepared himself for the start of a concert. An expectant hush fell over the hall. For nigh on thirty seconds there was total silence. Then, with a puzzled expression on his face, Hoffmann looked up from his piano and leaned over to speak to a lady in the front row of the audience.
Please may I see your program, madam? He whispered I've forgotten what comes first!

Short Flight

An old lady phoned British Airways and asked `Can you tell me how long it takes to fly from London to New York?
Just a minute, madam said the operator. Oh, that is quick, said the old lady. And she hung up.
